

Dart Oil & Gas Corporation, a rapidly expanding exploration and production company, seeks a Petroleum Reservoir Engineer for the corporate location in Michigan. This position offers plenty of variety....you will not be pigeon holed into routine work but able to have exposure to projects in other parts of the country while being a part of the engineering team. This individual will help to optimize operations as well as evaluate assets of potential acquisitions. Strong production engineering experience, operations and completions is needed as well as exposure to financial analysis software like Aries.

The ideal candidate will have a BS degree in engineering and a minimum of five years related experience or training. Full health benefits and relocation provided.

If interested, please email your resume to:
ccervantes@dartenergy.com

Or, visit our website: www.dartenergy.com to read a detailed job description and apply.